The trustees present their report and the audited financial statements for the year ended 31 March 2014.

Reference and administrative information set out on page 1 forms part of this report. The financial statements comply with current statutory requirements, the memorandum and articles of association and the Statement of Recommended Practice - Accounting and Reporting by Charities (SORP 2005).

Structure, Governance and Management

The organisation is a charitable company limited by guarantee, incorporated on 1 July 1997 and registered as a charity on 25 March 1998.

The governing body of Bond is the Board of Trustees. Members of the Board are nominated from, and elected by, the Bond membership at the Annual General Meeting. In addition, the Board may co-opt up to four members from within or beyond the Bond membership to ensure that its composition has the skills necessary to govern effectively. The maximum number of trustees is 12 and the minimum is three. Elected and co-opted members of the Board may serve a maximum of two consecutive three-year terms. The officers of the Board (the Chair, Vice-Chair and Treasurer) are elected annually by the Board members. Co-opted members of the Board are not eligible to fill the Chair or Vice-Chair positions.

Induction of new Board members include meetings with the Chair, the Chief Executive, each member of the Management Team and other key staff members, as appropriate. New Board members are provided with relevant documents and access to information about the governance and the work of the charity. All trustees give their time voluntarily and received no benefits from the charity. Any expenses reclaimed from the charity are set out in note 5 to the accounts.

The Board decides the organisational budget, approves the annual accounts, appoints the auditors and sets the strategic direction for Bond. Day to day management of the Charity is carried out by a Management Team of five senior staff led by the Chief Executive, who reports to the Board.

Objectives and activities

The objects for which Bond is established as stated in the memorandum and articles of association are the advancement of any charitable purpose and in particular for the relief of need anywhere in the world arising out of poverty, sickness, distress, age, infirmity and disablement by promoting the efficiency and effectiveness of voluntary organisations and other institutions in so far as such organisations and institutions are working to advance charitable purposes.

Public Benefit

The Trustees have referred to the guidance contained in the Charity Commission's general guidance on public benefit when reviewing the charity's aims and objectives and in planning its future activities. In particular, the Trustees consider how planned activities will contribute to the aims and objectives that have been set.

BOND STRATEGY 2011-2016

In April 2011, Bond began the implementation of its Strategy 2011–2016, which was approved by members at the 2010 AGM.

The strategy has three themes: Connecting for change, Maximising our influence and Strengthening the sector, each with a set of strategic goals and an outline of how we will achieve them. The following provides a review of Bond's performance against the strategy in 2013-14. During the year, Bond focused its activities across thirteen main objectives.

1. Connecting for change

A network rich in expertise and knowledge, Bond is a hub for collaboration and collective action, bringing members together to find solutions to common challenges, influence governments, policymakers and donors and engage in key debates affecting the sector.

Strengthening Bond's brand profile.

Increase and improve Bond's brand profile amongst members and key stakeholders, so as to help drive the take-up of services, collaboration through Bond and unrestricted organisational income growth.

An extensive communications and services review identified ways to improve the clarity and relevance of what Bond provides to members, deepen Bond's relationship with members and key stakeholders and improve our range of services to ensure their relevancy, usefulness and quality. Although most of the recommendations will be implemented in 2014-15, several new areas of work – including the Bond Awards, connecting with diaspora and academic communities and upgrading our website – were delivered, helping to extend Bond's position in the sector.

We published The Networker magazine and other key publications including policy positions, manifestos and reports, leaflets promoting our effectiveness services and campaign evaluations. Anecdotal evidence showed our publications are well regarded both in the UK and with our international counterparts. Many publications involved collaboration with development professionals both in and outside the membership.

The Bond Annual Conference was transformed, growing in size and stature to 600 delegates (up from 280 in 2012), 30 exhibitors (up from 12 in 2012), 80 speakers and 22 concurrent sessions running throughout the day. We secured more high-profile speakers than ever before including Theo Sowa (Chief Executive, African Women's Development Fund), Jeff Raikes (CEO, Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation) and Kevin Watkins (Director, ODI). Several speakers and delegates came from overseas, helping to raise the status of the event, extend Bond's reach beyond the UK sector and realise our ambition for the conference to become a must-attend event for the development sector.

Helping members innovate and collaborate better for the future.

Develop a new programme to support NGO leaders to shape organisations that innovate to reduce poverty into the future, and promote more effective collaboration amongst members.

For some time, Bond has recognised that the international development NGO sector is facing a turning point, with both global changes and shifts in the UK / traditional donor country context driving the need for change. These growing trends may mean that if international development NGOs want to continue to help poor countries progress in their fight against poverty, they, and the structures in which they operate, may need to change fundamentally.

In response to this, towards the end of the year, we recruited a Futures Programme Manager to lead the newly created Futures Programme and develop a more detailed strategy for both the programme and member engagement with it. We expect the programme to be rolled out towards the end of the 2014/15 financial year.

The website was completely refreshed with a new design, navigation and content to enhance the user experience and attract and sustain new visitors. The new look and feel helped fuel a significant increase in the number of visitors to the site, up 23% to over 50,000 visits per month. My Bond, our online community, was launched and is used regularly by members, including Bond's 23 working groups who use the platform to communicate with each other. By March 2014, there were over 3,000 visits to My Bond per month, a 400% increase on the previous year. Our Twitter and Facebook audiences also increased significantly: by year end, we had 3,700 followers on Twitter (up from 2,500 last year) and 1,700 'likes' on Facebook (up from 676). Over 27,500 people are signed up to receive one or more of our e-bulletins (up from 16,000).

The 23 working groups cover issues ranging from EU policy, environment, disability, child rights and organisational effectiveness. Many were very active throughout the year, holding regular meetings with relevant government departments and officials including DFID, DECC and the International Development Committee, writing letters to government ministers to raise concerns about specific areas of government policy and providing evidence to enquiries. Several new groups, focused on technology, faith campaigning, transparency and monitoring, evaluation and learning, were set up in response to renewed interest by members in these areas.

Towards the end of the year, we initiated new programmes of collaboration with UK diaspora and academic communities – two audiences with whom Bond has had less working partnership in the past. There appeared to be a mutual appetite for closer engagement and collaboration, which will be developed in 2014-15. Twenty diaspora-based international development organisations took up the offer of a trial membership and we were involved in a series of events which brought NGOs and academics together.

Revitalising the set of services we offer.

Increase the take up and impact of Bond services across all sizes and types of members through a restructured and revitalised service offering.

Bond's suite of products and services - training, consultancy, advertising, EC funding advice line, effectiveness tools, conference and engagement with the IF campaign – were promoted in our regular communications throughout the year. By the end of the year, 40 per cent of Bond members had participated in three or more Bond activities from a set of seven, an increase of 11 per cent on the previous year.

We created the Bond International Development Awards, a unique opportunity to promote the achievements of members to a wider audience. The awards received 30 high quality entries from across the membership. The four awards judges were well-respected figures from international development. Over 100 people attended the awards ceremony and we attracted media coverage in The Guardian and Charity Times, which helped to profile Bond and the winning entries to new audiences – and it was promoted extensively through social media. We subsequently promoted widely the winners and shortlisted entries in Bond communications.

2. Maximising our influence

Bond uses its convening power to bring together partners and allies in order to influence governments, institutions and donors, in the UK and internationally, to adopt policies that have a positive impact on the lives of those living in poverty around the world.

Ensuring a wide range of members could participate and shape the IF campaign in order to maximise its impact on hunger during the year the UK hosted the G8 Summit.

Ensure the IF campaign is accountable to the wider IF Campaign membership, its funders, and its representative Board of members; deliver specific policy and campaign activity; deliver an effective and used monitoring and evaluation framework, and ensure the campaign ends well, leaving a legacy of improved international development commitments and a positive basis for future NGO collaboration.

Bond played an important role behind the scenes helping facilitate the development and implementation of the Enough Food for Everyone...IF campaign, which sought to mobilise the UK public to take action towards ending global hunger during the year the UK hosted the G8 Summit. As Chair of the IF Board and a member of the Organising Committee, we played an important part in ensuring strong and effective campaign decision-making processes and kept wider IF campaign coalition members connected through regular Assembly meetings and updates. As a result of our outreach, almost half of the 214 campaign members were Bond members. We were especially active around the Nutrition for Growth official G8 event and the G8 Heads of Government Summit itself in June. This included Bond's Chief Executive on behalf of the IF Campaign:

- Leading a delegation to meet with Prime Minister David Cameron on the eve of the Summit in Northern Ireland to ensure issues of global tax dodging and land transparency were high on the agenda;
- Chairing the NGO conference on nutrition, which was attended by more than 100 people
- Joining Secretary of State for International Development Justine Greening MP to speak at the DFID/ CIFF reception to launch the Nutrition for Growth intergovernmental event.

In addition, we led the monitoring, evaluation and learning element of the campaign, which included commissioning a comprehensive and independent campaign evaluation and developing a range of learning resources. Both are available on the Bond website.

Co-ordinating the UK's 'Beyond 2015' work and helping to shape European and global campaigning on the post-2015 agenda.

Build Bond's networks, positioning and campaigning capacity to influence the process of negotiations on Beyond 2015 to ensure the final outcome in 2015 helps alleviate global poverty; and work to ensure the MDGs are reached.

Since establishing the Bond Beyond 2015 UK Group in 2012, we have consolidated our position as a key facilitator of civil society efforts to shape a bold post-2015 framework, both in the UK and the global context. This year we delivered a comprehensive programme of work with over 40 engagements with key decision-makers including senior DFID officials and ministers, EU institutions and UN representatives. Highlights included an event co-hosted with DFID with the UN Ambassador to Finland and co-chair of the UN's Intergovernmental Committee of Experts on Sustainable Development Financing and a high-level event with Secretary of State Justine Greening and a Senior Assistant to the President of Nigeria on MDGs, attended by over 150 Bond members.

We convened a series of cross-Whitehall thematic events ahead of the UN Open Working Group on Sustainable Development Goals meetings and also hosted meetings with the Shadow International Development Team. We coordinated member engagement with government throughout the year and particularly around the UN General Assembly meetings in September 2013, including an event in New York with the newly appointed UK Special Envoy on post-2015. We also developed a series of post-2015 briefings for parliamentarians and 65 Bond members participated in the creation of a thematic paper on 19 different issues. Internationally, Bond also helped convene a 'political café' style event in Nairobi with representatives of the Kenyan Parliament, DFID in Kenya and local NGOs and participated in an international roundtable in Panama attended by DFID, other donors and senior UN officials.

Developing and delivering a strategy to build the capacity of our members to deliver impactful campaigns.

Build capacity within Bond to enable Bond members to improve their campaigning skills and techniques, and to encourage and enable joint campaigns across the sector.

Bond established a members' campaigning forum and worked with more than 30 campaigning experts to produce 'Campaigning Together', a series of 20 online resources that form part of an ongoing programme of work on campaigning effectiveness. We developed a campaigning seminar series, which will start in May 2014, to complement these resources. A comprehensive campaigning effectiveness programme will be developed in 2014-15.

Enabling our members to engage the public more effectively on development issues.

Deliver a suite of impactful research on public support for aid and development. Publicise research across the sector and enable members to change their activities to become more impactful.

In autumn 2013, we conducted research on public perceptions of poverty, international development and aid. The findings were presented at two sessions attended by 120 people at the Bond annual conference and 60 members signed up for future updates. The findings were subsequently tested at three workshops, attended by 70 academics, consultants and researchers, and campaigns, communications, fundraising and marketing representatives from more than 40 Bond member organisations. The discussions were a springboard from which to develop a shared understanding of some of the key challenges, opportunities and ideas for building deeper and broader public support for aid and development. In October 2013, working with 15 organisations from US, UK, France and Germany, Bond helped in establishing an international 'Narrative Project', convened by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, as a collaborative effort to research, develop and trial new and more compelling ways to talk about aid and development with the public and dispel some of the myths which obscure clear public debate.

Increasing political and parliamentary engagement with the development agenda.

Influence UK MEPs in the development of manifestos for the EU parliamentary elections. Develop a range of contacts that influence the UK manifesto development process for the 2015 General election. Ensure the solutions to global poverty are debated in Parliament and rise up the political agenda.

We continue to help members engage with policymakers in both Westminster and Whitehall, including in DFID, No 10, FCO and the Cabinet Office, also building and strengthening strategic relationships to ensure cross-party parliamentary support for aid and development and effective dialogue between Bond, our members and officials in DFID and other key departments. In September/October 2013, we delivered an event at each of the main political party conferences, with Secretary of State for International Development, Justine Greening participated at the Conservative Party event. Bond also responded to the reshuffle of the Shadow International Development Team to establish a strong working relationship with the new MPs and staff to help our members..

We undertook a substantial piece of work following the Government's introduction of the 'lobbying bill'. From the outset, we raised strong concerns about key elements of the Bill which threatened to restrict the ability of our members to campaign for change in a non-partisan way to tackle the root causes of global poverty and place an unreasonable and diverting compliance burden on them. We worked closely with Bond members, parliamentarians of all parties and others to secure significant changes to the final legislation. We galvanised support from across the membership and - as part of the wider campaign - from over 130 NGOs across a range of issues. Over the six months we: held regular meetings with, and sent letters and submissions to, MPs and peers; provided regular policy briefings and updates for Bond members and parliamentarians, provided support to the Civil Society Commission on Democratic Engagement and submitted evidence to the London consultation sessions hosted by the Commission. As a result of the sustained actions of UK civil society organisations and networks, including Bond, key changes to the bill were won. We issued a response and analysis of the final bill, which was passed into law in January 2014. This will continue in 2014/15, where we will support members to understand the new law and guidance to ensure they can comply with the regulations while continuing to campaign on issues of concern to their mandates as charities.

Maintaining the quantity and increasing the quality of UK aid and ensure UK development policy is focused on alleviating poverty.

British Overseas NGOs for Development (trading as Bond)

The government does not drop its commitment to 0.7%; aid is not diverted to the military or other departments; UK aid remains focused on poverty reduction. DFID's development policy remains focused on poverty reduction, including within international fora, and DFID makes progress on its aid effectiveness/quality commitments.

In the 2013 budget, the UK government confirmed that it would deliver its commitment to spend 0.7% of GNI on aid, a promise that was confirmed in the 2014 budget. Following the 2013 budget, Bond continued to monitor aid levels and responded to all 0.7% announcements, including the Queen's Speech and the autumn statement on government spending plans.

Bond also delivered a programme of work to monitor the quality of UK aid, including the coordination and submission of evidence to four important official inquiries: DFID's Multilateral Aid Review, the International Development Committee's (IDC) inquiry on the Future of Development (financing), its review of Independent Commission for Aid Impact (ICAI) and its review of DFID's annual report. In addition, we worked to influence the outcomes of the High Level Meeting on development effectiveness, including the publication of a policy paper and a series of dialogues with DFID officials. We published a policy paper on country ownership, which was presented at a high-level meeting of the steering group of the Global Partnership for Effective Development Cooperation. Bond also convened its regular quarterly meetings with both the IDC and ICAI, and was invited to meet with and give feedback to the OECD-Development Assistance Committee's team undertaking one of its regular peer reviews of the UK's aid programme.

Bond published two pieces of research and a report on the future of aid to middle-income countries, written by experts on the topic. The reports were used to influence DFID and the Commission Communication on financing for development in the EU.

Ensuring the EU delivers its aid quantity commitment, increases the quality of its aid and EU development policy is focused on alleviating poverty.

No cut to the aid budget in the MFF; continued commitment to the 0.7% aid target; progress made on aid effectiveness/quality commitments; European development policy remains focused on poverty reduction.

As negotiations to agree the next European budget (the Multiannual Financial Framework, or MFF) entered their final phase, Bond continued to monitor discussions and sought to influence both the UK and European position on Heading 4. Activities included: a series of dialogues with the DFID and FCO negotiating teams; meetings with the UK Permanent Representative in Brussels and key European Commission officials; joint member letters to the Prime Minister and the Secretary of State for International Development; a letter published in the Financial Times; and the publication of briefings, analysis and reactions to EU Council of Ministers meetings and official conclusions. Our advocacy work, in collaboration with our partners in Brussels and other member states, helped to secure the protection of the funding level of the EU's development budget within the overall EU medium-term budget, despite severe cuts in other budget areas. We also supported CONCORD's the advocacy work of CONCORD (bringing together Bond's sister member networks across all 27 EU Member States) on the MFF, actively participating and contributing to its taskforce on the issue.

Bond made a substantial contribution to the design, drafting and delivery of CONCORD's annual AidWatch report, supporting the Brussels launch by leading a breakfast meeting with EU diplomats and disseminating the report to our networks and stakeholders in the UK. We worked to ensure that aid levels remained on the political agenda in Europe, influencing the discussions and responding to the outcomes of Foreign Affairs Council and European Council meetings. In collaboration with CONCORD, we helped to influence EU aid quality and development effectiveness and maintained and supported policy dialogue between Bond members and the Europe teams in DFID and the FCO.

3. Strengthening our sector

By equipping organisations, partners and their staff with appropriate tools, skills and knowledge, Bond contributes to building a more effective, robust and sustainable sector.

Growing, and increasing the impact, of our training.

Use Bond's training offering to strengthen the effectiveness of NGOs and individuals in the development sector through developing the range, quality, reach and impact of our training programme.

Bond's learning and training service consisted of 24 courses that run regularly throughout the year and an in-house service where we work with members to create a course to meet their specific needs. We also launched a consultancy service. All are available to members and non-members.

Under the open training programme, we ran 50 courses (comprising of 90 training days), up from 48 courses (over 84 days) last year. A total of 804 bookings were made by 526 unique participants. There was a 26% decrease in uptake from members (from 438 to 324 bookings), an increase in non-members (from 147 to 185 bookings) and a 1% decrease in individual bookings (from 84 to 83 bookings). Participant satisfaction ratings remained high with an average score of 8/10 whilst trainer satisfaction averaged 9/10. On average, 25% of participants on each course say it exceeded their expectations, 52% say it totally met their expectations, and 20% say it largely met their expectations. 73% said the course had increased their knowledge, skills and confidence a lot, and 33% said they planned to make changes to the way they work as a result.

The number of in-house training courses increased from 30 (over 38.5 days) to 31 (over 41.5 days) this year. 12 Bond members commissioned courses and 13 non-members commissioned courses. In addition Bond initiated a consultancy service as part of its income-generating services.

This year we delivered 24 days of consultancy. The consultancy, open and in-house training programmes tie in closely with Bond's other effectiveness and transparency services, such as resources, working groups, events and publications, so that users can be referred to other aspects of Bond's work which may assist them to become more effective.

Help more UK NGOs increase their transparency.

Support all DFID grantees, and a pioneer group of other UK NGOs to publish their programme data to the IATI register, and build other routes to enhancing transparency, accountability and the productive use of sector data.

Bond has continued its proactive and ongoing work to enable Bond members and other UK NGOs to publish to the IATI (International Aid Transparency Initiative) standard. In this financial year, we:

- Supported 131 organisations – 123 in the UK and 8 overseas, the equivalent of 52% of all publishers globally (end of March 2014 figures), to share data using the IATI standard;
- Extended our IATI support service to include monthly free practical workshops, email support to users in the UK and overseas, and tailored one-to-one support;
- Provided support and advice to other NGO platforms in Europe and the US to build mutual expertise;
- Became a member of the IATI Steering Committee and a co-chair of the IATI CSO Working Group. We are one of only five civil society organisations on the 60-member steering committee).
- Supported the IATI Secretariat technical team to develop practical guidance for organisations, hosted on the IATI website;
- Supported the formation of an IATI network for Bond members and DFID grant-holders. By the end of March, the group had 70 members;

- Worked proactively with DFID to support their grant-holders in meeting the compliance requirements of IATI, and provided grant-holders with opportunities to feed back to DFID about this requirement.

We hosted an event in September attended by 20 NGOs and representatives from DFID, to discuss challenges and opportunities related to publishing to IATI.

In October we took part in the Open Government Partnership meeting in London and hosted a session on IATI for NGOs at the linked CSO event. We also produced a new guide on transparency for small organisations.

At our Annual Conference we hosted a transparency session with speakers from Publish What You Fund, Indigo Trust, Restless Development and Dutch development NGO platform Partos, which was attended by over 70 people.

In January 2014, we started to extend our transparency work beyond IATI. We set up a new Transparency Working Group to provide a space for Bond members, academics, funders and others to think critically about transparency and accountability issues at both an organisational and sector level, challenge assumptions and engage with current academic, policy and practice discussions. At the end of March, the group had 48 members.

Boosting NGO effectiveness and development impact by scaling up Bond's effectiveness strategy. Build on the existing effectiveness resources to develop a comprehensive Bond service offering that improves organisation and programme effectiveness.

Having developed a set of sector resources to support greater NGO effectiveness, we launched the second phase of the programme and the three key tools – the Health Check, Impact Builder and Evidence Principles - in May 2013 at an event with the Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for international development. Since the launch of the tools and NIDOS' effectiveness toolkit, 109 Bond, NIDOS, Welsh Hub and CADA members have engaged with one or more of the tools. We initiated a survey to find out whether the effectiveness resources are helping to increase the skills and confidence of those that have used them and the extent to which using them has resulted in a change to their practice. The findings will be analysed in early 2014-15.

Improvements made to the Health Check and the one-to-one advice and practical surgeries we ran enabled more organisations to make use of the tool. We engaged with three major funders: Big Lottery Fund trialled the Health Check through a pilot with its grantees, Comic Relief included the Health Check as one of three tools they recommend to grantees for assessing organisational effectiveness and we presented the tool to DFID Civil Society Department staff. We also presented the Bond tools to a group of private trusts and foundations who are considering whether they may be useful for their applicants or grantees. We used the results of the organisations that had completed the Health Check to develop new training and support services, which included a new member offer on organisational governance.

The Evidence Principles were used widely and we received positive feedback on their value and usefulness, including from organisations that are using the principles to set terms of reference for their evaluations. They were cited in a research report on practical approaches to assessing the quality of evidence and are being recommended by donors such as DFID and Comic Relief. We established an external advisory group to discuss new applications of the Principles and how to get greater academic engagement and buy-in.

Development continued on the development sectors and strategies covered by the Impact Builder by means of co-production workshops with members. We set up new working groups on Transparency, on MEL (Monitoring, Evaluation and Learning) and a Contracts group as a subgroup of the Funding Working Group. We promoted the effectiveness tools when visiting Bond members, speaking at events and at our annual conference. We shared our approach at meetings of evaluation societies, including the African Evaluation Association, and with other networks, such as members of the UK Alliance (covering the UK's four nations) and the International Federation of Platforms (IFP). We connected Bond's effectiveness activities with emerging developments in the field of impact measurement, evaluation and learning, for example DFID's PPA Learning Group. Segmenting the audiences that engage with Bond on effectiveness, we began to develop a distinct offer for small NGOs which includes accessible resources and signposting.

Financial Review

This has proved to be a financially successful year with both a strengthening of unrestricted reserves coupled with a programme of investment in systems, communications, IT, office space and staff. This has created a financially robust organisation with a modern infrastructure and improved space within which to offer services and support to its members and the sector. This investment has been funded through continuing the strategy of generating alternative income sources through growing the overall size of the membership and maintaining high retention rates, maximising its training programme, attracting advertising and revenue through its publications, recruitment services and expanding its annual conference.

At the start of the year, a balanced unrestricted budget was set with a range of ambitious income targets that continued the strategy of maximising unrestricted fundraising sources. An excellent set of results followed with most of the income targets set being exceeded and the expanded expenditure budget being kept under tight control. By the end of the year, total unrestricted income increased by 21% to £1,194k (2013: £984k) and expenditure by 13% to £1,090k (2013: £964k), producing an unrestricted surplus of £104k.

Growth in restricted activities almost doubled during the year with the delivery of three major projects, funded by grants from the Department for International Development (DFID) and the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation. In all, a total of £1,877k was spent on these activities (2013: £946K).

In all, Bond's income increased substantially by 33% to £2,975k (2013: £2,234k) and the delivery of its mission, including its project related delivery and services to its members grew by 55% to £2,967k (2013: £1,910k).

Unrestricted funds

Unrestricted income of £1,193k and expenditure of £1,090k produced a surplus of £104k for the year. This, added to the brought forward balance of £262k resulted in an unrestricted fund balance of £366k.

Membership continued to grow, with income from membership fees increasing by 13% to £530k (2013: £468k), representing 44% of Bond's unrestricted income (2013: 47%). In all, total members grew during the year by 9.6% to 420 (2013: 384).

The Learning and Training programme generated income of £338k (2013: £312k) with direct costs reducing to £256K (2013: £292k). Although this programme still does not cover its fully absorbed costs, the year's marginal surplus of £82k compares with £20k the previous year. The fully absorbed deficit improved to £15k (2013: £51k).

Advertising and sponsorship income grew significantly by 61% to £321k (2013: £200k) and covered 60% of the fully absorbed membership and communication costs of £529k (2013: 54%). This considerable achievement in a tough external environment was due to both the hard work in exceeding income targets and the huge success of the Bond Annual Conference, which exceeded expectations in generating revenue of £118k (2013: £26k).

Bond spent a further £86k of unrestricted funds on its advocacy work (2013: £122k), £14k on its effectiveness programme (2013: £38k) and £16k on governance (2013: £15k). A further £6k (2013: £4k) was generated in investment income reflecting the continued poor returns on cash deposits.

Restricted funds

During the year, Bond was in receipt of restricted funding totalling £1,781k (2013: £1,249k), being £960k from the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation (2013: £866k), £696k from DFID (2013: £341k), £40k from Comic Relief and £85k from Bond's members. By the end of the year, a total of £403k was carried over for spending in future years.

The year saw the progression of the three-year grant from the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation supporting Bond's work to provide UK based international development NGOs with leadership, support and coordination and to increase the effectiveness of their common advocacy. This programme of work remained largely on track with income of £461k being recognised and £355k spent. The balance of £203k remaining has been carried over to next year and will finance the completion of this work in August 2014. In addition, the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation provided a separate grant to contribute towards the costs of the coalition IF campaign focusing on international policy commitments needed to tackle global hunger during the year the UK hosted the G8 Summit - which ran until December 2013. During the year, £499k was received with £777k both spent and advanced to members of the consortium delivering this work. The balance on this fund of £24k was carried over and will be used to complete the evaluation of the campaign and the production of learning resources. This work will be completed in May 2014.

The year saw the award of a grant from the Department for International Development of £2,708k over a three-year period to further Bond's work in driving forward developing its Effectiveness Programme, increasing the transparency of the sector and joint civil society action for positive EU and international development policy and a global post-2015 development framework. During the year, £696k was received for this work and a total of £669k spent. A balance of £27k remained unspent and carried over to next year.

Comic Relief contributed £40k towards developing the effectiveness programme, adding to the £47k received from Bond members from previous years. A further £34k was received from Bond members to finance a post delivering work surrounding anti-corruption with an all-party parliamentary group of MPs.

Balance Sheet

Total funds amounted to £770k (2013: £762k) and comprised of unrestricted general funds of £305k (2013: £241k), designated funds of £62k (2013: £21k) and restricted funds of £403k (2013: £499k).

Debtors amounted to £430k and related in the main to unpaid membership fees billed in March for the next financial year and some unpaid training fees. Creditors of £644k included £531k in deferred membership income and training fees.

Cash and short term deposits of £921k (2013 £1,238) reflected the level of unspent restricted funds coupled with income deferred at the end of the year.

Bond's reserves policy states that its free reserves (calculated as the unrestricted reserves less designated funds) should cover a minimum of six weeks and a maximum of three months of budgeted unrestricted expenditure, with a targeted level of ten weeks. The policy also states that this should be reviewed periodically with a view to building reserves further. The unrestricted free reserves of £305k represented 10.5 weeks (2013: £241k representing 11 weeks) of budgeted unrestricted expenditure. The Trustees consider the level of reserves to be adequate in light of the financial risks being undertaken and consistent with the reserves policy.

Next Year

The Board has approved another break-even unrestricted budget for 2014-15 and some ambitious targets have been set. Improvements made to systems, processes, the IT infrastructure and the investments made in its staff will be built on and the excellent progress in increasing funding from unrestricted sources will continue. The year ahead is set for a planned expansion of the Annual Conference, the addition of other sector-wide events, the expansion of the consultancy and in-house training services and the continued growth in membership.

Coupled with this will be an increased investment in a newly reorganised staff as part of the delivery of an expanded set of services, including policy and campaigning activities. In all, it is planned that unrestricted income will rise by 28% to £1,523k next year and expenditure by 39% to £1,518k. This increased budget and financial risk has been made possible through an improved unrestricted reserves position.

The challenge still remains in raising sufficient funds in the future, especially restricted funds to deliver the full range of Bond's charitable mission. A large three-year grant from the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation is coming to an end in August 2014. Work was carried out to secure funds to replace this. So far, Bond has been successful in achieving its fundraising targets and efforts will be made in maintaining current levels of grant funding for the foreseeable future.

PLANS FOR 2014-15

Bond moves into the fourth year of its five year 2011-16 Strategy. It prioritises and makes choices about which objectives and activities will be addressed in any given year according to the resources and capacity available. The focus for 2014-15 is as follows:

Connecting for Change

1. Brand profile: Grow and strengthen Bond's brand profile with members and other key stakeholders in order to drive service take-up, collaboration within the network, and income generation.
2. Membership: Increase the overall number of members and ensure that, in all of Bond's key strategic areas, there is an appropriate representation of members, including the leading practitioners in those areas.
3. Service take-up: Increase the overall take-up of Bond services and increase the range of member and non-member organisations using Bond's services.
4. Member engagement: Develop a proactive and integrated approach to managing membership relations based around improved intelligence and insight, to ensure that Bond is responsive to the full range of member needs and concerns, and better able to take a leadership role in convening the sector.
5. Member networking: Continue to improve existing spaces for member networking and develop new opportunities, including a coherent events programme, which provide members with the opportunity to forge new alliances, share knowledge, and collaborate to ensure the best results for those living in poverty.
6. International strategy: Develop a more strategic approach to engagement with international stakeholders including recognition of existing work with international partners.

Maximising our Influence

1. UK aid: Continue to champion and contribute to sustaining the quality and quantity of 0.7%, especially focused on the 2015 UK General Election.
2. UK development policy: Develop a non-aid policy and campaigns offer with members, covering structural issues and wider approaches to coherence.
3. European aid and development policy: With members and partners, contribute to ensuring Europe meets its aid quality and quantity targets, as well as working to ensuring the shape of European policy (in the lead-up to and following the 2014 European elections) is coherent and remains focused on tackling poverty and inequality.

4. Political support for development: Together and on behalf of members, deliver demonstrable political and parliamentary support for international development, including the 2015 general election and the 2014 European Parliament election.
5. Civil society enabling environment: Contribute to maintaining an enabling environment for UK development NGOs, and support the sector to respond to external and internal opportunities and threats.
6. Public support for development: Work with members to re-make the case for development across a range of audiences.
7. Post-2015 global development goals: Contribute to delivering an ambitious global post-2015 agreement, play a key convening role in a post-2015 work in the UK, Europe and internationally and deliver public awareness/engagement and campaigning activities in the UK and across Europe.
8. Campaigning effectiveness: Actively support members to further improve campaigning effectiveness, creativity and reach and develop the capacity of Bond as an effective campaign convenor supporting members to campaign in coalition.

Strengthening our sector

1. Effectiveness services: Maintain existing and develop additional services (information, advice, resources, training, consultancy, and learning opportunities) to enable members and other NGOs and the individuals who work in them (including leaders) to be more effective.
2. Evidence and learning: Provide support to members and other NGOs, promote dialogue with research institutions and enable the development of networks and infrastructure to improve the accessibility, creation and use of evidence to inform organisational learning and action for change.
3. Transparency: Promote greater transparency and accountability in members and other NGOs by supporting them to publish activities and results through IATI and by developing infrastructure and support to encourage publication and use of data and results.
4. Funding: Provide members and other NGOs with information about funding trends and opportunities, and develop ways to help funders to engage with Bond's effectiveness programme and exhibit good funding practice.
5. Sector effectiveness: Implement new programmes with members, including a futures and a fellowship Programme, to help the sector to better demonstrate value and anticipate change.

- (a) The financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention and in accordance with applicable accounting standards and the Companies Act 2006. They follow the recommendations in the Statement of Recommended Practice, Accounting and Reporting by Charities.
- (b) Voluntary income is received by way of donations and gifts and is included in full in the statement of financial activities when receivable.
- (c) Revenue grants are credited to the statement of financial activities when received or receivable whichever is earlier.

Where unconditional entitlement to grants receivable is dependent upon fulfilment of conditions within the charity's control, the incoming resources are recognised when there is sufficient evidence that conditions will be met. Where there is uncertainty as to whether the charity can meet such conditions the incoming resource is deferred.

- (d) Income generated from the supply of goods or services is included in the statement of financial activities in the period in which the supply is made.
- (e) Membership income is recognised over the year to which it relates with the part relating to the next calendar year carried forward in creditors
- (e) Restricted funds are to be used for specific purposes as laid down by the donor. Expenditure which meets these criteria is charged to the fund.
- (f) Unrestricted funds are donations and other incoming resources received or generated for the charitable purposes.
- (g) Designated funds are unrestricted funds earmarked by the Trustees for particular purposes.
- (h) Transfers from unrestricted funds to restricted funds are made when a project funded by restricted income does not receive its full cost from its funder.
- (i) Where information about the aims, objectives and projects of the charity is provided to potential beneficiaries, the costs associated with this publicity are allocated to charitable expenditure.

Where such information about the aims, objectives and projects of the charity is also provided to potential donors, activity costs are apportioned between fundraising and charitable activities on the basis of area of literature occupied by each activity.

- (j) Resources expended are recognised in the period in which they are incurred. Resources expended include attributable VAT which cannot be recovered.

British Overseas NGOs for Development (trading as Bond)

Notes to the financial statements

1. Accounting policies (continued)

- (k) Resources expended are allocated to the particular activity where the cost relates directly to that activity. However, the support costs of overall direction and administration of each activity, comprising the salary and overhead costs of the central functions, is apportioned on the basis of the number of full-time equivalent staff employed in each activity centre over the course of the year, as follows:

Advocacy and Representation	35%
Effectiveness Programme	17%
Learning and Training	20%
Fundraising	9%
Membership and Communication	18%
Governance	1%

- (l) Governance costs are the costs associated with the governance arrangements of the charity. These costs are associated with constitutional and statutory requirements and include any costs associated with the strategic management of the charity's activities.
- (m) Unrestricted reserves are transferred to restricted funds in projects where restricted funds are insufficient to cover committed activity costs.
- (n) Depreciation is provided at rates calculated to write down the cost of each asset to its estimated residual value over its expected useful life. The depreciation rates in use are as follows:

Computer equipment	33 ^{1/3} % per annum
Office furniture and equipment	33 ^{1/3} % per annum
Leasehold improvements	22.22% per annum

- (o) Items of equipment are capitalised where the purchase price exceeds £500. Depreciation costs are allocated to activities on the basis of the use of the related assets in those activities.
- (p) Investments held as fixed assets are revalued at market value at the balance sheet date. Any gain or loss for the period is taken to the statement of financial activities.
- (q) Transactions in foreign currencies are translated at rates prevailing at the date of transaction. 16. Contingent liability

Bond is a member of The Growth Plan with The Pension Trust, a multi-employer scheme. Following a change in pensions legislation in September 2005 there exists a potential debt that could be levied by the trustee of the Plan. The debt is due in the event of the employer ceasing to participate in the Plan, or the Plan winding-up.

The potential employer debt on withdrawal for Bond as at 31 March 2013 has been calculated as £12,820. As Bond has opted to remain with the Plan and continues to offer this to employees, the likelihood of the debt crystallising is remote.
